

Jeremy Millard

My current “permanent” positions (i.e. drawing a salary), each part-time on my preference, are:

- Chief Policy Advisor, Danish Technological Institute, Denmark
- Senior Research Fellow, Brunel Business School, Brunel University, London, UK
- Managing Director, Third Millennium Governance, Denmark (my private consultancy)

Current European “positions” (i.e. as a consultant) are:

- Special Advisor to DG CONNECT, European Commission, on public sector innovation, e-government and public services. I am also currently rapporteur for the DG Connect / DG Research Advisory Group on designing the 2016-2017 research programme in these areas.
- Member of DG Enterprises’ Digital Entrepreneurship Forum.
- Member of DG Research’s expert network on social innovation, and the use of digital technology.

Current and recent positions for other organisations:

- UNDESA (United Nations Department for Economic and Social Affairs): expert on e-government and sustainable development (e.g. acted as ghost writer for the “eGovernment Survey 2014”).
<http://www.un.org/en/development/desa/publications/e-government-survey-2014.html>
- United Nations: expert on info-poverty.
- UNDESA: member, rapporteur and author of report on "E-Governance for Sustainable Development" for embedding ‘governance’ as a major feature in the post-2015 United Nations Development Agenda
<http://workspace.unpan.org/sites/Internet/Documents/UNPAN93313.pdf>
- OECD (Paris): expert on public sector innovation, and preparing a strategic paper “back-office development in support of user-centred e-government strategies.
- World Bank (Washington): special assistance in preparing a comparative report on e-government for the Russian government.
- European Commission and ReSPA (Regional School of Public Administration in the Western Balkans): preparation of an e-government comparative report in the Western Balkans, expert on corruption and IT in the public sector, running e-government and m-government courses, mediating contact with the OECD, and preparing their ReSPA’s e-government and related programmes of Work for 2014 and 2015.
- European Commission and Georgia: expert team member on assistance in preparing the eGeorgia strategy,